Beautiful

As there has not yet been an opportunity for me to meet you and your colleagues of the British Team since your return from the International Apprentice Competition in Lisbon, I am writing as Chairman of the British Organising Committee to congratulate you on winning the Gold Medal in Silversmithing. Everybody has been delighted to learn of the splendid performance of the British Team this year for the result is Britain's best performance ever since we first participated in this competition.

I would like to take this opportunity of wishing you well in your future career.

Yours sincerely
