

NICHOLAS GOES FOR GOLD IN STYLE

By Vikki Orvice

HAIRDRESSER
Nicholas Williams-Cammack has shown he is a cut above the rest — by winning Britain's only gold medal in an international skills contest.

Nicholas, aged 19, was among 400 people from 21 nations taking part in the International Youth Skill Olympics in Birmingham.

And after four days of intense competition cutting and styling he received his gold medal from Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

Nicholas, of Meadow Street, Weston-super-Mare, works at the town's Robert John Salon, having trained at Brunel Technical College in Bristol.

Last night Nicholas, who also got the highest score in the British team, said: "I was surprised to win.

"I thought I might be in with a chance of a medal but did not think of reaching the gold."

Fellow Brunel hairdressing student Nicola Heaven, 19, won a silver medal.

Young hairdresser wins prize

Winning is a snip for Nicholas Williams-Cammack

WIDE 6.9.89