President's Report Annual Report 2010

To promote, through the cooperative actions of Members, a worldwide awareness of the essential contribution that skills and high standards of competence make to the achievement of economic success and individual fulfilment.

Vision

A world where people can achieve the workplace skills they need to prosper and find fulfilment.

2010 Overview

We celebrated WorldSkills International's 60th Anniversary in 2010 with various initiatives during the year, culminating in a 60th Anniversary celebration event held at the conclusion of our General Assembly meeting in Kingston, Jamaica.

In the lead-up to the General Assembly, the WSI Board of Directors conducted a strategic review of the WSI Releasing the Full WorldSkills Potential – Action Plan 2008-2011 via a series of meetings and working groups. The resulting document - Vision 2020: Promoting Skills Across the World – was presented to the General Assembly in Kingston, Jamaica for review and adoption.

The key outcome of the General Assembly meetings was the ratification of the creation of our WorldSkills Foundation, which will expand the role, leverage, involvement and impact of the WorldSkills movement into areas that encompass education and advocacy. The WorldSkills Foundation (WSF) will specifically focus on the education and advocacy needed to build a worldwide awareness of WSI's vision and mission, while WSI will continue to focus on its core activity of conducting the WorldSkills

The General Assembly also elected the new Board of Directors which will lead our organisation from the conclusion of WorldSkills London 2011 for the following four years.

The 2010 WorldSkills Youth Forum was also a great success, with the participants from several of our Members delivering an excellent final presentation to the General Assembly and sparking the "Steve and Steph" Facebook initiative as part of our social media strategy.

In 2010 WSI also saw significant brand enhancements, with a growing number of Members aligning to the WorldSkills brand at the national level, and also with WorldSkills Europe, WorldSkills Americas, GCC Skills and WorldSkills ASEAN aligning to both WSI branding and intellectual property at a regional level.

We also welcomed China as our 53rd Member, and Siemens and Lincoln Electric as Global Industry Partners. It is significant that these events took place within our Diamond year – further marking WSI's evolution from international skills Competition to a truly globally recognised WorldSkills movement.

In addition to our strategic initiatives, WSI's other key area of focus for 2010 was preparation for the 41st WorldSkills Competition to be held in London, UK in October 2011. WSI continues to work closely with the Host organising committee (WorldSkills London 2011) to increase and improve the partnership and seamless integration of experience, new initiatives and practices in the delivery of both the Competition itself, and the associated events – including an outstanding seminar and conference program to be run under the banner of the WorldSkills Premiere Experience. Significant improvements are being made in the areas of Competitor and Visitor experience and sustainability.

We can confidently say that WorldSkills London 2011 will be the best WorldSkills Competition ever.

In its 2010 "Education for All" Global Monitoring report, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO) states that "No government can afford to ignore the role of skills and learning in supporting economic growth, combating poverty and overcoming social marginalisation. Governments and the international community urgently need to develop meaningful benchmarks for measuring progress and policies for achieving greater equity."

In 2010, WorldSkills International celebrated its 60th Anniversary. In 1950, Francisco Albert Vidal and his team organised the first international vocational training competition with the mission "Fill youth with enthusiasm through special action! Convince young people's parents, trainers and company chiefs that a promising future is possible only through good vocational education."

For the next 40 years, the 'Youth Skills Competitions' were Albert Vidal's life's work. He shaped our organisation into the remarkable world-wide movement that it is today, and passionately espoused its values which we proudly continue to uphold.

We have achieved a threefold increase in our membership over the past 30 years, and a third of our Members have joined WorldSkills International in the last decade alone. I believe we can expect that WorldSkills International will have at least 70 Members by 2020. This is testimony to the growing realisation that a highly skilled workforce underpins the strength of any country or region. And we can all be proud that WorldSkills International is playing an integral part in this realisation.

The past 60 years of hard work, development and success is a great legacy to have as we face the future. Our 60th Anniversary tagline aptly described how we approached 2010 - "honouring the past and launching the future".

The key strategic work for 2010 was crafting our 2020 Vision. The discussions around the 2020 Vision at our General Assembly in Jamaica October 2010 were very productive. The General Assembly ratified the creation of the WorldSkills Foundation and supported the 2020 Vision with the expectation of further discussion leading to its adoption in London in October 2011. Our 2020 Vision has three key objectives:

- 1. To build up WorldSkills International as a strong global organisation able to improve the quality and sustainability of all aspects of the Competition
- 2. To reduce costs, improve efficiencies and increase the benefits of participation for all our stakeholders
- 3. To launch, through the WorldSkills Foundation, a program of advocacy and education to help us achieve our vision

We salute the effort, dedication and support of our Delegates, Experts, Team Leaders, Global Industry Partners, Competition Organisers and other stakeholders who work tirelessly at the local, national, regional and international level.

Together we provide the means to bring out the very best for the individual, for enterprise and society. Working together, under the WorldSkills flag, with a shared vision of a more sustainable world where people can achieve the workplace skills they need to prosper and find fulfilment.

Panel discussion at the WorldSkills Leaders Forum

David Hoey

WorldSkills marked its 60th Anniversary in 2010 and we 'honoured the past and launched the future'. We celebrated and acknowledged the amazing story of WorldSkills and everyone who has been involved. We embraced the future with our 2020 Vision.

Our General Assembly ratified some key strategic initiatives in securing the way forward for our future growth, sustainability, brand development and sphere of influence.

In line with our Brand Strategy, the four regional skill competitions – WorldSkills Europe, GCC Skills, WorldSkills ASEAN and WorldSkills Americas – have adopted our WorldSkills brand as part of their development and partnership. We congratulate each of them on the quality of their 2010 Competitions and look forward to working closely with them as the regional Competitions form a key part of our 2020 Vision.

Congratulations and thanks go to WorldSkills Jamaica for their excellent hosting of the 2010 WorldSkills General Assembly in

CEO's Report

During the General Assembly meetings in Kingston, Jamaica, we welcomed China as our 53rd Member. We also introduced Lincoln Electric and Siemens as new Global Industry Partners and look forward to a long and fruitful partnership with these outstanding corporations.

I would like to recognise the outstanding support of our Global Industry Partners whose contributions have allowed WSI to achieve many objectives plus their valued approach to partnership and our common objectives.

WorldSkills Calgary 2009 left a substantial and significant impact and Members capitalised on this. During 2010 we have progressed preparations for WorldSkills London 2011 and it will be a world-class event, showcasing the skills that shape our world, and inspiring future generations of skilled, high-quality professionals.

60th Anniversary Celebrations

Members, stakeholders and supporters joined us as we honoured the past and launched the future during a year of celebration for our Diamond Anniversary (1950-2010).

WorldSkills International planned the biggest anniversary party in its history and we were joined by all of you around the world.

The conclusion of the anniversary took place in October in Kingston, Jamaica where all our Members came together for the annual General Assembly. There were leaders, youth, delegates and many more there to work together towards a strong future. The official anniversary party of the year was a gala event on 9 October, also in Jamaica.

Following the work of the week, Delegates donned their dinner best and joined together to celebrate the successful week of meetings, the 60th Anniversary of WorldSkills International and to offer thanks to the hosts. WorldSkills Jamaica. The Prime Minister

WorldSkills General Assembly in Jamaica

Official and Technical Delegates representing Member countries/ regions around the world convened for a week of activities in Kingston, Jamaica from 3-10 October 2010. The objectives set out for the General Assembly were to review all technical aspects of WorldSkills Competitions and strategise ways to advance the skills movement worldwide. Along with the meetings, a celebration of young people took place at the 4th WorldSkills Jamaica National

As an international organisation with a vision for the future, Delegates shared ideas about the best ways to move forward to ensure education, advocacy and vocational training are in place for the world's young people who are considering a career in skills, trades and technologies. Technical Delegates met in both plenary and working groups with discussion and work surrounding ways to change or improve the already exceptional WorldSkills Competition.

The Strategy Committee focused on innovative ways to lead WorldSkills forward. The General Assembly closed with some highlights for the participants. The first highlight included a presentation from former Competitors, our WorldSkills Champions, who participated in the WorldSkills Youth Forum (WSYF) as they shared their exceptional ideas on how to engage and excite people from different ages and stages about careers in trades and request from the WorldSkills International Secretariat.

With 60 successful years behind us, we look to the future with great aspirations and confidence. Join us in our 2020 Vision as we strive to improve the quality and sustainability of all aspects of the Competition and launch the WorldSkills Foundation with a program of advocacy and education activities.

WorldSkills Leaders Forum in Jamaica

The WorldSkills Leaders Forum (WSLF) welcomed many passionate speakers to share their views on Technical Vocational Education and Training (TVET): Implications for Sustainable Development during the WSLF in Kingston, Jamaica on 6 October 2010. From the talented performers, the presenters, the keynote presentation and the panel discussions, it was clear that several common themes connect everyone who is part of the global skills movement; themes of transformation. innovation, the belief in youth and the celebration of excellence help guide all countries/regions that are Members of WorldSkills

All presenters acknowledged that people are our most important natural resource; the training and development of people is and will continue to be the key to a sustainable global workplace for years to come. Educators, policymakers, leaders of industry and government

In 2010 the use of the WorldSkills International website (www.worldskills.org) was regular throughout the year, experiencing a slight increase in usage coinciding with the General Assembly in Kingston, Jamaica in October.

A total of 86,952 unique visitors from 190 countries viewed 589,241 pages during the year with 1,581 visits being made from mobile devices.

Social media engagement is increasing with links to Twitter and Facebook featuring prominently on the home page and email communications. The WorldSkills presence is directing traffic to the main website and whilst the majority of those reading and following the messages are already part of the WorldSkills family it is providing a platform for the influencers within that group to expose others to the WorldSkills message.

Photos

Photographs and videos are all stored on the photo sharing website "Flickr" (www.flickr.com/WorldSkills). This enables full high resolution images to be made available to the public without having to store them on our own server. Individual photos displayed on www.worldskills.org link direct to the high resolution version on Flickr. There are currently 9,772 photos in our library.

The WorldSkills TV video library had almost twice the number of visits as in 2009 and was the 3rd most popular page in 2010 showing a growing interest in video content sparked by the WorldSkills TV project in WorldSkills Calgary 2009. There are currently 351 videos hosted with a total of 40,016 video views in 2010.

Other websites

WorldSkills International also hosts several other websites relating to various initiatives.

In July 2010, the WorldSkills Blog was launched to educate and inform, and to promote discussion about skills across the world. Twenty-four articles have been written by 13 authors with backgrounds ranging from past Experts, to Partners and the President of WorldSkills International.

Web-based applications and systems

The WorldSkills International server hosts a number of other applications and systems. These include:

- Discussion forums
- Who-is-Who personnel management
- Infrastructure List system
- Competition registration
- Content Management Systems for main websites
- Competition Information System (CIS) development and training
- Competition Tracker
- Online Workplan
- Document register
- eLearning Environment

must work together to transform the image of vocational education. All must re-examine the perception of these careers as 'last chance' options and promote them as excellent and viable first choice career options for youth. No matter where you live, the commitment, the challenges and the needs are similar – engage youth, engage their communities and champion the Technical Vocational Education and Training cause.

The Members present at the General Assembly were impressed by the commitment to the global skills movement found in Jamaica. In the words of Honorable Andrew Holness, the Minister of Education "knowledge determines what you can do, what you can do determines who you are." We must all take responsibility to champion technical education around the world; we must all be knowledgeable and shine the spotlight on these careers.

WorldSkills Youth Forum in Jamaica

Four days of intense workshops, cultural excursions and the creation of new friendships highlighted the WorldSkills Youth Forum that took place during the General Assembly in Kingston. Jamaica from 3-10 October. The WSYF brought 29 Champions from 12 countries/regions across 13 skill areas together to discuss ideas and help to evolve the WorldSkills brand. In small groups, the participants were asked to focus on a variety of target audiences and reflect how WorldSkills could appeal to each with the creation of a viral campaign.

The key elements found in the workshops included preparation, working within deadlines, communicating and ensuring that deliverables were met as participants constructed the viral marketing campaigns. This work was something that the WSYF participants were already well suited to thanks to all of the training they undertook for their own WorldSkills Competition experiences.

At the end of the presentations, the General Assembly participants were impressed by the vision and outreach that all of the groups shared. People were also introduced to the newest face of the WorldSkills International family: Steve. No one wanted Steve to be spreading the WorldSkills word on his own, and Steph was also created. These characters will travel far and wide visiting meetings, events and competitions and report back on their Facebook pages and the WorldSkills Blog.

Global Industry Partner update

In a previous GIP statement we reflected that collectively the Global Industry Partners viewed WorldSkills International as a portal into a world, busy establishing skills as a global currency. We realised that together, cooperating within the WorldSkills International network, we could all achieve a much greater impact, developing best practices and standards, than would ever be possible acting alone - truly a winwin situation. We also recognised that our economic health depended on a skilled workforce – which is why we are still here! There is no economy without skilled workers.

The GIPs represent a number of industry sectors associated with specific skill areas. In many sectors there is a significant gap between the skills trained and the needs of the workplace. The education programs and skills competitions must reflect current workplace needs and standards. Many GIPs are already involved in education initiatives in various markets and we want to bring this experience to the table to help educators, WSI Experts and committee members adapt competitions to keep pace with workplace demands.

In 2010 we welcomed 2 more GIPs, making us 10 and bringing a rich variety of input such as corporate cultures, skills practices, markets served, business networks and community outreach initiatives to the table. The current GIPs are a heterogeneous group – different, but aligned on wishing to contribute to the WorldSkills movement and help WSI grow faster to full potential.

Those corporate cultures include sustainability strategies, typically focused on social, economic and environmental issues and policies. WorldSkills and the supporting education infrastructure need to continue to develop sustainability practices in all areas of the organisation. Within many of the competitions, a lean, environemental and team approach is possible - paving the way for the future. WorldSkills has already started with a sustainability task force and some new practices introduced in Calgary, but what more could we do and how can we help?

With all these opportunities, the value of our "global skills currency" can only increase. The GIPs want to be involved much more in jointly addressing these issues in order to make our contribution to promoting skills across the world - tackling the provision of the relevant skills in competitions and training - and ensuring the subsequent extensive recognition of acquired competencies. So WorldSkillers - challenge us to help us all raise the value of our global skills currency!
