

Staff go Olympic

TWO senior members of staff from Bristol's Brunel College of Arts and Technology have been selected as judges in this year's International Skills Olympics.

The competition is to find the best craft students in the world.

Bill Jefferies, deputy head of the college's construction faculty, and Christine Vokins, head of the hairdressing school, will set off to Taipei, Taiwan, later this month for the event.